

THE FINAL MESSAGE

Use the following message to determine the LOCATION of your mission AND the CODEWORD to begin

I am contacting you to give you your agenda. We are excited for you to join us on this quest. Don't worry you definitely won't need an encyclopedia. Trust us, this will have been worth the wait. Remember, you must complete your work with some urgency. Because anyone has the potential to be the champ. This is your chance to prove you are a puzzle samurai. We are going to test your skills and they will need to be more than just basic. Assemble your team and sift through the data. Get your thinking cap ready because here is the deal. Our puzzles are tricky and you'll have to trust your instincts. So get to work, but not without a pint; we recommend London Fog or Hef'n A. The answer isn't far away. It is currently just a bit out of reach. No need to fret, you've got some time.

Don't be stressed if these puzzles cause you some havoc. They are meant to take time and be enjoyed, at least that's our intent.

So on your marks, ready set and go.

PS. Be sure to whisper your answer.